Book Review:

After reading this book, readers will have a greater awareness the world around them and how they can impact it. The variety of topics spans generations, culture, and gender, encompassing the very aspect of what it means to be human. It discusses the chi, metaphysics, and cognitive therapy, among many other fields and includes corresponding activities for every chapter in an easy to follow format. When completed, these activities provide growth and development in understanding your purpose and what makes you unique. I highly recommend The Powers In You to anyone seeking to change, heal, or transform their lives.

I am gifted with the ability to see, assist, and guide people while revealing the divine secrets to sustain a state of happiness through self-love mastery. Each day I work with my clients and students to help them find their sacred soul's path, where pure love and gratitude reside and where everything is possible.

Leora's Commitment to You:

Although I have enjoyed an abundance of professional training, certifications, trainings, and clinical hours over 30 years, my testimony is my favorite accreditation:

I transformed myself to rise up through these experiences because my first NDE provided insight into our vast multiverse, tools, & life strategies to transform the most challenging life experiences and woundings.

My second NDE revealed the concise sequencing of every aspect of life and our existence. You needn't die to learn how to heal, and transform as you realize your Soul Purpose. I'm thrilled to share it all with you.
